of Rollins & Son, seized an oar and followed. So far as they knew, none of the others in the party jumped.

Either they could not swim and preferred to cling to the launch until help came, or else they were stunned by the explosion.

Both Tarbell and Packer remained

near the launch for several moments, urging their comrades to jump into the water with a cushion, oar, life

preserver or something, for the launch

was burning rapidly.

One man, believed to be Roland

Worthington, was seen clinging to the side of the boat, but he could not swim apparently, and the men in the water could not reach him. Gradually the launch drifted out to sea, and Packer and Tarbell were forced to give up hope. They turned landward and swam slowly so as to husband

their strength as much as possible.

It was twelve hours before their re-

GIBBONS GOING TO ROME.

Cardinal Will Sail Next Saturday to Visit the Pope.

New York, July 14.—Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, will sail next Saturday for Rome. After his visit to the pope he will attend the convention of the International Eucharistic

League in London, at which Cardinal

Vanutelli will be the special representative of the pope.

Archbishop Farley, of New York, accompanied by his secretaries, will also sail for Rome next Saturday, and will take with him the pope's pence offering of the archdiocese of New York. The archbishop will inform

Pope Pius X of the deep impression made in this country by the recent centenary celebration, and will present

the pontiff with a copy of a book writ-

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

Severe Storm Swept Over the Harbor

of Baltimore.

Baltimore, July 14.—Five men are known to have been drowned and three women and a man are believed to have met a like fate Sunday evening, when a very severe wind and rain storm passed over the harbor of this city.

Eight men in a rowboat were endeavoring to reach Ft. McHenry when one of them, Peter Detrich, terrified

by the storm, while attempting to leap overboard, upset the boat. He,

William Delacour, Joseph L. Miller

and Edward Simmons were drowned.

The others righted the boat and reached the fort in safety.

State Funeral for Poet.

Christiania, July 14.—Jonas Laurits

Edemli Lie, the Norwegian poet and novelist, who died last Sunday, was given a state funeral with pomp almost equal to that accorded the late

Henrik Ibsen. The body was taken to Frederikshavn, the poet's home,

where, according to his last wishes, it will be interred.

Shots—Two Delegates Injured.

Chicago, July 14.—A dispatch to the Tribune from St. Louis, Mo., says:

The train bearing the Pennsylvania

delegation home from the Denver convention was attacked by thugs as it was entering St. Louis Sunday. On the side of the special car was a streamer announcing that the car contained the Pennsylvania delegation.

The train was running at high speed

when suddenly there was a fusillade

of stones, bricks and bullets.

William Schultz, O. E. Maxwell,

and J. F. Curran, of Washington, Pa., seated together at one side of the car, were cut by flying glass but escaped the stones and bullets.

Colonel James M. Guffey was seated in the forward end of the car and escaped injury. Since leaving Denver, Colo., Guffey has been ill as a result of the heat. At Sedalia, Mo.,

the train was held while a physician

came aboard and attended Mr. Guffey.

BITTEN BY RATTLER.

Man Almost Severs Arm to Save

His Life.

Mobile, Ala., July 14.—Rather than lose his life from a rattlesnake's bite

Harry Wood, former member of the police force of this city, almost chopped his left arm off Friday morning.

Wood is superintendent of a turpentine camp, near Creola, this county, and while in the woods, five miles from camp, was bitten by a deadly rattlesnake. Being desperate, and unable to reach camp, he took a hatchet and severed several big arteries which allowed the blood to flow

free.

He lapsed into unconsciousness and remained on the ground from 9 in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It is thought he will recover.

INCUBATOR TWINS.

Mites of Humanity Named After Bryan and Taft.

New York, July 14.—Many members of the Italian colony at Coney

Island joined Sunday in the christening of Bryan and Taft Palaneno, the incubator sons of Marie and Pasquale

Palaneno. The twins were born on Saturday morning and their weight

combined scarcely exceeded three pounds.

Bryan weighs three ounces less than Taft, but both have an even chance in the incubators.

Dr. Pierce realized that the boys could not be brought up under ordinary circumstances and both were taken to the incubators at an amusement park.

To Test New Pistol Law.

Montgomery, Ala., July 14.—Constable Church, of Madison county,

will make a test of the new pistol law. He was arrested for having in his possession a pistol less than 24

inches long and will carry the case

through the courts. It has been understood all along that the lawofficers

would be compelled to violate the act

in order to protect themselves and they have not been obeying it. However, it is thought best to get a ruling favorable to them if possible. The sheriff's association has the matter in hand.

Baby Born on Street Car.

Chicago, July 14.—Street car traffic

in Washington street was brought to a standstill for half an hour Monday

when Mrs. John Huloff, a passenger on an Armitage avenue car, while passing the city hall, gave birth to a girl baby. The woman was on the way to a hospital accompanied by a nurse. Dr. I. G. Rawlins, a physician attached to the city health department, was called and later mota-

er and child were taken to a police ambulance to the hospital.

RICH FARMER MURDERED.

Wife Found Him, Wounded, on Bed,

Which Was on Fire.

Charlotte, N. C., July 14.—Lying on his own bed, sweltering in blood from a gunshot wound in his side and the bed clothing in flames, John Morris,

a wealthy farmer of Union County,

was found by his wife in the bedroom of their home near Weddington

Saturday.

Two unknown white men rushed out of the house just as Mrs. Morris was awakened by the report of the gun

and made good their escape.

Neighbors of the Morris are suspected.

The wife snatched up the burning bedding and extinguished the fire,

reaching her husband just as he expired. The murder was done with Morris' own gun and $40 in cash was missing from his bed room.

Roanoke, Va., July 14.—Mrs. Sallie

Engle, only sister of John W. Kern, of Indiana, democratic candidate for vice president, heard of her brother's nomination when she came to Roanoke market with a load of produce from her farm near this city.

CONCISE STATEMENT OF CEMETERY ASS'N.

Showing What Has Been Done Under Adverse Circumstances.

NEW FENCE IS BADLY NEEDED

The Responsibility of Keeping Up
the Grounds Has Been Borne by
Two Ladies for Several Years—A Work of Love.

Editor Sun: Permit Mrs. Warner and myself, who have worked so zealously to keep clean the silent city of our dead, to make a statement for the benefit of a number of new citizens who are now interested in our cemetery. Our old citizens well remember the condition of this sacred place twenty years ago, when the church societies resolved to try and do something for the place by appointing one lady to represent each society and pledging $5 from each society per month to help pay the sexton. Mrs. S. V. Duke, Mrs. J. W. Williams and Mrs. M. E. Tinsley were asked to assist the representatives from these societies, and these ladies solicited contributions from whoever would give. This plan worked for about two years, when these ladies became so discouraged that they sent the sexton home because they did not have the money to pay him, and the gates were again closed. But Mrs. Gilmore, who many of us remember and love very much for her sweet Christian character, had organized a little improvement society to beautify the court house square, and it was at one of these meetings that Mrs. F. D. Warner and myself asked that the cemetery be included in our work, as it seemed useless to plant flowers and trees in the court house yard for the cattle to destroy, for at that time we did not have a fence around the yard and the cattle ran at large in our pretty little city. This suggestion met with the approval of every member, and Mrs. C. A. Colclough and Mrs. Annie Stringfellow (the latter now deceased) were appointed to solicit contributions by the month on the west side of the Atlantic Coast Line, and Mrs. Warner and myself on the east side. The work went nobly on for about six months, when the Improvement Society died; Mrs. Colclough and Mrs. Stringfellow grew weary of the hard work, and then it was left to us to do, or again close the gates. But we both had at that time a sweet mother resting in that wilderness of weeds, and it was not safe for ladies to go out there without a good reliable white man to protect us, and we resolved to keep it up, and for four years, from three to four days were spent each month asking for aid to pay the sexton. At the expiration of this time we realized that the town had grown so that two ladies could not do the work. Please bear in mind all this time the new part of the cemetery belonged to a corporation of men who sold or gave away the lots, to suit themselves, while we paid (or the people I mean by we) the sexton to keep them clean. So Mrs. Warner and I appealed, through the press and personally, to each lady who contributed to come out to a meeting and organize a cemetery association. When the afternoon arrived for the meeting we had seventy-five ladies present, and the association was organized in a business-like way by electing a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. It was then decided to buy from the corporation of gentlemen the new cemetery, and a committee was appointed to confer with them. This committee reported at the next meeting that the gentlemen would be glad to sell for eight hundred dollars, and five of them would wait until the sale of lots netted the amount, without any interest. So you see it was up to us to pay this other gentleman his amount, which we were able to do through Col. Dutton's kindness in buying these shares for us and waiting, with the other stockholders, until we could raise the amount, without interest, to pay him. The association decided to accept this offer. Col. W. W. Hampton, who represented his brother, Mr. Charles Hampton, deceased, who had an equal interest with these other gentlemen, kindly presented his brother's shares to the association. Thus with this huge undertaking before us we went to work to pay the debt and take care of our cemetery. Time and time again we presented petitions to the City Council for aid, and each time were told that the city did not have the money. So about two years ago the association decided, as the ladies were so tired and it was humiliating to us to have to stop business men from their work to collect 25 cents to help defray these expenses, that we would make one more effort to have the city take care of their dead. We therefore decided to borrow enough money to finish paying the debt and present the cemetery to the city, free of debt, with the understanding that they would keep it in good condition. Through the efforts of Mr. Ed O'Neill, then a member of the council, we had another petition presented which resulted in the council allowing us thirty-five dollars per month, which is just the sexton's salary, they deciding it was best for the Cemetery Association to keep the grounds. Thus we still have charge of them, and last January paid the balance of the debt. We really could not tell what has become of the association. We called several meetings, and only the president, secretary and treasurer, with a few other faithful women, responded to the call, and as we were elected to hold office until our successors were elected, we are still doing our best. Mr. W. N. Wilson was elected many years ago an honorary member of our association, as he took such an active interest in helping us, and he is still as faithful and is always ready to help select your lot and give any desired information.

Now, I have given you a synopsis of our work, and hope you will always give freely your part. Remember, it is not any more our cemetery than it is your's, and the work is done by Mrs. Warner and myself because it is a work of love. Sometime ago we realized that we had to have a new fence, but kept patching until the debt could be paid, but now we can not patch any longer, and we must now solicit aid. We have raised by this method one hundred dollars, and through the kindness of Mr. Henry Davis we will receive a liberal percentage of the receipts from the game of baseball today between Oak Hills and Lake City team, the "Fats" and "Leans," which were to play for the benefit of the cemetery, having given way to these clubs, and we hope to receive enough in this way to buy the neat, self-opening wire gate so much needed for our fence. The business men will close for this game, we feel sure, as they have all expressed a desire to close for this purpose one evening each summer and have done so for the past three years.

Mr. Colclough will give us the use of the ball park, Mr. Livingston will furnish the ice and Mr. O'Neill the other little necessities, so what we make will be clear. It will cost at least $500 to do the work, that only giving five hundred feet of iron and wire fencing for the front, and posts, nails and work to fix the other part. We had $185 left from the road money when the road was finished, and this money has been in the bank at 4 per cent interest ever since in hopes we could some day extend the road into the yard, but we will be compelled to use it on the fence. We also have a small amount from the sale of lots that we can use this way, so we feel sure that with a little help we can get the fence. Respectfully,

MRS. H. H. McCREARY,
President Cemetery Ass'n.

GEORGE TAYLOR HAS RECOVERED HIS PIPE

After It Had Remained At the Bottom of a Natural Well Fifteen Years.

HAD TURNED PERFECTLY WHITE

When Mr. George Fleming Cleaned
Out Well, Which Had Gone Dry,
the Pipe and Numerous Other Articles Were Recovered Therefrom.

A natural well on the place of Mr.
George Fleming, of Archer having gone dry, that gentleman decided to have the whole cleaned out. When the work was completed it was found that he had taken from the bottom of the well several large well buckets,
a number of smaller ones, a quantity of chain, a foot tub, and other articles too numerous to mention, among them being a fine meerschaum pipe which George L. Taylor had lost in the well fifteen years ago. When the pipe was accidentally dropped in the well it was beautifully colored, but when recovered it was its natural color—white. Mr. Taylor is naturally happy over the recovery of his long-lost pipe and has been enjoying it for the past few days as he never enjoyed it before.

These natural wells are numerous in Alachua county and many property owners obtain their water supply from them. They are supplied by subterranean streams, which, like the fickle maiden, sometimes "go back" on those who depend upon them, and then the farmer has to haul water until he can have a pump sunk, for where these natural wells are found,
it is generally at least fifty feet below
the surface where water is obtained.
They are great curiosities in some sections of the county, and it is said that some years ago a bottle with a note placed in it was thrown into one of these wells in the western part of Alachua county and the same was some days later picked up by a vessel in the Gulf of Mexico. In another instance a cat was thrown into one of them and afterwards picked up alive in the Suwannee river, some fishermen having observed the feline
as it was making for the bank.

HAD ENJOYABLE TIME.

Entertainment by Miss Mary Baird in Honor of Miss Miller.

There was a novel and unique social entertainment given by Miss Mary Baird at the home of her parents Monday evening in honor of the visiting guest, Miss Alma Miller of Jacksonville.

The social was in the way of the "train system," and the cars were made up as the guests arrived, which was supposed to be the union depot.
While waiting in this room they were "checked" and their number was the number in order in which they came in the makeup of the train.

Different stations were passed and after the finding of the lost ring,
which was on their route, they arrived in due time at the "lunch counter," where their appetites were appeased.

The prizes were won by Miss Alma Miller, a box of stationery, and the "booby," a toy train, was awarded to Jas. Bodford. The lost ring was found by Miss Eva Denn.

In all the evening was pleasantly spent and the guests departed voting
Miss Baird a charming young hostess.

Board Public Works Ordered to Pave
From Union to Mechanic Street.

COAST LINE RY. MUST HELP OUT

Required to Stand Expense for Thirty Feet on Union, Liberty and Mechanic Streets—Road Bed Must Be Graded on Level With Street.

The City Council met at 7:30 Monday night, pursuant to adjournment,
with President Shands, Aldermen Broome, Burnett, Cannon, Graves,
Mixon, and Clerk Dell, present.

Ordinance No. 163, being an ordinance to provide for the election of a city attorney by the City Council and to prescribe his salary, was read, and upon motion of Alderman Cannon, the rules were waived and the ordinance adopted upon first, second and third readings. President Shands, Aldermen Cannon and Graves voting yea, Aldermen Burnett and Mixon voting
no, Alderman Broome not voting.

Ordinance 164, being an ordinance
to regulate and control the streets, avenues and public grounds of the city of Gainesville, to prevent and remove obstructions and encroachments upon the same, and to provide a penalty for the violation thereof, was read, and upon motion of Alderman Cannon adopted upon its first reading. The rules were again waived and the ordinance was read by sections and adopted, every member voting yea.

The following resolution was read,
and upon motion of Alderman Cannon
was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Board of Public Works be required to pave West Main street from and including Union street crossing on the south to and including Mechanic street on the north,
and that they request the A. C. L.
company to agree in writing to put their track through the city of Gainesville on city's grade, and that they be required to put their track in a suitable condition for paving with vitrified brick from and including the points mentioned above within thirty days from date of this notice.

"First, that the railroad company shall be required to pay for the paving between the rails of their track and three feet from the outside edge of their rail on both sides of their track;
also they shall pay for the paving
thirty feet on each side of their track
the entire width of Union, Liberty and Mechanic streets."

Alderman Burnett moved that the surveyor be employed to at once locate the property of the city in East Gainesville bought from Huff and report to the street committee, which was carried.

Alderman Cannon was appointed a committee to ascertain the cost of paving Boundary street from East Main street west to Pleasant street.

Upon motion of Alderman Broome council adjourned.

Are YOU Being "Hunted?"

One of today's want ads. may be hunting you—ransacking the city for you. It may have a message for you of urgent personal importance—one that, when you get it, and heed it, may change the immediate currents of your activities, of your interests—may even place around and about you new environments, new associates; may give you an entirely new start in a business way.

Isn't it worth while to try to find out whether this may not be true—today, tomorrow, or very soon?

The DAILY SUN, published every morning except Monday, delivered by carrier in the city, or mailed to any part of the United States, postage free, for $5 a year; $2.50 six months; $1.25 three months; or 50 cents for five weeks—strictly in advance.

Reading notices in local column 10 cents a line for first insertion, and 5 cents for each additional insertion.

Rates for display advertising made known on application.

The Twice-a-Week Sun is an eight page, forty-column paper, published every Monday and Thursday, and contains all the news of the week, local, state and general, and will be mailed, postage free, to any part of the United States or Canada, for $1.00 a year—in advance.

All advertising bills become due after first appearance of advertisement, unless otherwise stipulated in contract. Parties not known to us will be required to pay for advertising in advance. Address, THE DAILY SUN, GAINESVILLE, FLA.

The price of beef would indicate that the packers' combine do not fear the Republican plan of trust-busting.

More men are "henpecked" by seemingly-adverse circumstances than by their wives. A little advertising may help you to boss your own circumstances.

The banks have discovered that if they join one of the currency associations the law makes no provision for voluntary withdrawal from such association, and some of the big bankers, therefore, refuse to participate.

Cotton mills with 200,000 spindles in South Carolina have shut down in consequence of the lack of demand for their products. That wonderful "Sunshine Club" should visit South Carolina and lift the cloud on industry there.

Congressman Littlefield of Maine declares that "the way malefactors of great wealth have escaped is grotesque." No wonder Littlefield has declared his intention of resigning from Congress, with ideas so strangely at variance with his President and party.

An exchange suggests that Hon. W. J. Bryan enlist the services of Pleasant Holt, late campaign manager for D. U. Fletcher. The Sun endorses the suggestion, and also suggests that Mr. Bryan would do well to employ J. O. LaFontaine, campaign manager for General Gilchrist. They have both won their spurs and are no longer amateurs in the game of politics.

In Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular for May 25 there was a clarion call for "more funds to help save Tennessee from the Prohibitionists and renominate Governor Patterson," whom the liquor trade seemed to regard as their "last chance" in that great commonwealth. The prolia lost with Carmack, the bitter-tongued, brilliant candidate. However, it took lots of money and work, and perhaps the help of that old sinner, the L. & N., to save the day. If you do not believe the liquor associations are alarmed, and are organizing with unlimited boodle, just read their journals. It is unwise for temperance forces, as organizations, to get mixed up with partisan fights between different politicians. Keep the temperance issue single.—Arcadia News.

The State Board of Health, which has been giving the Pasteur treatment in Jacksonville, announces that it has been compelled to discontinue the treatment for the present because they do not deem it quite safe to have this organic preparation sent from New York, taking thirty hours in transit at best, at the present temperature conditions. Therefore, those who are so unfortunate as to be bitten during the summer months are advised to go to some near-by Pasteur Institute for treatment. It is proposed to erect a laboratory and office building for the State Board of Health. As soon as that is done, so that they can have adequate laboratory facilities, they can prepare their own treatment and administer it throughout the year, at practically no expense to the board and at no expense to the people receiving it.

BRYAN WILL WIN.

The Jacksonville Times-Union has the following to say editorially regarding the nomination of Mr. Bryan: "The Denver convention selected the ablest man and the strongest man in the Democratic party. Mr. Bryan will get more votes than any other Democrat could have gotten. He will carry more States than any other Democrat could have carried. We believe he will receive a larger vote even in the East than any other Democrat would have received, and we base this opinion on the fact that he did receive, in that section, nearly one hundred thousand more votes than Judge Parker received, while Judge Parker's Republican opponent received nearly two hundred thousand more than Mr. Bryan's opponent, making the plurality against Mr. Bryan nearly three hundred thousand less in the East in 1900 than that against Judge Parker in 1904.

"We believe Mr. Bryan will win," the Times-Union does not approve all of Mr. Bryan's ideas but, taking them as a whole, it considers them immeasurably superior to those which would triumph if Mr. Taft were elected. Few men are ever perfectly satisfied with the views of any candidate or the principles on which he is running. It is needless to say that we will support Mr. Bryan with all of our strength and if in some respects we do not agree with him we will let such questions lie in silence until they can be discussed without disloyalty to the Democratic ticket.

But whether Mr. Bryan's views be sound or unsound they are the views of the American people this year. It is a significant fact that the Republican party, strongly as it is opposed to him, has not dared to express in its platform opposition to any idea that Mr. Bryan advocates. They have tried to give their platform the look of Bryanism because they know that Bryanism is popular.

"No political platform of any party will contain a clear-cut declaration against any of Mr. Bryan's principles. No Republican campaign orator of prominence will dare to take a stand against them. This does not prove they are right, but it proves they are popular and the man with views his antagonist does dare openly to oppose has the next thing to the certainty of election."

PERILS OF MERCHANTS.

The real danger in managing a store, nowadays, is that it will get into a rut. The merchant who is afraid to "make a noise," who dreads the day his bills fall due; who is afraid to "spare money for advertising," who devotes most of his time to watching little things, to worrying about trifles—he is in danger. In effect, he is trying to found and build a store on his fears, not on his aspiration; on misgivings, not on confidence. He forgets that fear is a destroyer—not a builder; that misgivings will pull down that which confidence would build to completion.

It is a dangerous thing to fetter a store with a lot of baseless fears of what might happen; to dread what might follow the exercise of ordinary aggressiveness and enterprise. Under such conditions, the merchant's policy itself is the very worst calamity that could happen to the store.

Such a policy places a store in the position of depending upon "location," chances of various kinds; and upon the patronage of those who do not read advertising. These, however, are so scarce in this city that if they all patronize one store they could not support it.

The merchant who advertises adequately builds upon his hopes, not upon his fears. Confident and aggressive advertising makes store-management a business fit for men—men of nerve, resources, red blood.

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

They Succeeded the System of Nomination by Caucus.

Conventions have not always nominated our presidents and vice presidents. For more than thirty years presidential candidates were named by a caucus made up of members of the house and the senate. This system died when in 1824 the caucus insisted upon by Martin Van Buren and other friends of William H. Crawford of Georgia defeated Crawford, which threw the election into the house on account of the scattering electoral vote caused by the entrance of Clay, Calhoun, Jackson and John Quincy Adams in the race. This frayed elected Adams.

The campaign of 1828 in consequence was somewhat demoralized, and in 1831 the Republicans followed the example the anti-Masonic party had set the year before and met in convention in Baltimore to nominate Henry Clay. The Democrats held their first national convention in the same city the following year, nominating Martin Van Buren for vice president. The dominating figure of the party, Andrew Jackson, needed no indorsement of his candidacy for the presidency.

The Democrats in 1835 and 1840 nominated Van Buren for the presidency in Baltimore, and the Whigs nominated Clay in the same place in 1844, when the Democrats named Polk.

In 1835 Romulus M. Saunders introduced the two-thirds rule to the Democratic convention, and it was adopted. The customs installed at these earlier conventions which succeeded the tyranny of the caucus chamber have been continued and added to from time to time, and the conventions today are merely the descendants of those that nominated Clay and Van Buren—Charles Wadsworth Camp in Metropolitan Magazine.

Horizon.

A man calls it the horizon where the earth and the sky seem to meet, but a woman's notion of the horizon is the families she can see moving in from behind her front window curtains. If, further, they hang out their washing in a spirit of candor, they are, of course, all the more so. The horizon is caused by a number of things, chief among them the gregarious instinct. Only for this next door would mean as little as tariff revision or pure food or international arbitration. It takes a star or something of that sort to rise above the horizon, but a very ordinary woman may feel above it—Life.

The Cult of the Hotel.

"Hotel" is a French word, but a thoroughly British institution. If its great hotels were suppressed London would no longer be London—that is to say, the London of society, the theater, literature, politics, art and fashion. The hotel is one of the essential factors of London life—Milan Corriere Della Serra.

A Comparison.

Mrs. Gilles (anxiously asking after rector's health)—Well, sir, I be glad you says you be well, but there—you be one of these "bad doers," as I calls 'em (gle 'em the best o' vittels, and it don't do 'em no good)—there be pigs like that!—London Punch.

First Necessity.

"How would you define a 'crying need?'" asked the teacher of the rhetoric class.

"A handkerchief," replied the solemn young man with the wicked eye.—Chicago Tribune.

The great and the little have need of each other.—Shakespeare.

Billiousness

"I have used your valuable Cascarets and find them perfect. Couldn't do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them to everyone. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family." Edward A. Marx Albany, N. Y.

ERIOUS SHOOTING AFFAIR AT ROCHELLE

Result of Old Grudge Which Has Existed for Years.

FRANK AMMONS WILL LOSE EYE

Without Warning Richbourg Approaches Ammons and Fires Load of Shot in Face—Fortunately Shot Were Small, But Ammons Will Lose Eye.

Rochelle was the scene of a shooting affair on Monday evening about dark between two negroes, when Jim Richbourg shot and mortally wounded Frank Adams.

The affair grew out of an old grudge which has existed between the two negroes for several years, and friends of the parties thought the dispute had been amicably settled.

On Monday evening the two men met and Richbourg remarked: "It looks like you don't like me any more," and without scarcely finishing his sentence raised his gun and fired, the entire load taking effect in Ammons' face.

Rube Thomas, who was with Ammons, attempted to take hold of Richbourg, when the latter attempted to shoot him with the remaining load in the gun.

Ammons was brought to this city, where he was given medical attention by Dr. J. F. McKinstry, who says that the wound is not necessarily fatal but will cause him to lose one eye and be laid up for several weeks. Richbourg made good his escape and has not yet been apprehended.

Killed Large Rattler.

A letter received from Allen Halle by a friend in this city contains the information that he had killed one of the largest rattlers ever seen in this section. His snakeship measured six feet and two inches in length and thirteen inches in circumference, with eighteen inches at the head. He had seventeen rattles and the customary button. It is supposed that this is the same snake that killed the fine setter of J. M. Halle a few days recently, as it was killed within fifty yards of the point where the dog was bitten.

A WAY THEY HAVE

What This Gainesville Citizen Says Only Corroborates the Story of Thousands.

The particulars related by this representative citizen of Gainesville are similar to hundreds of others in this city. When there are scores of people, all anxious to tell about the benefits received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, the greatest skeptic in Gainesville must be convinced. Read the following:

Mrs. S. E. Pihkonen, living at 609 W. Liberty street, Gainesville, Fla., says: "My daughter had been in poor health for some time, and I am sure that it was all due to weakened kidneys. She was not strong, felt nervous and was subject to dull headaches. These symptoms, together with others that existed, induced me to procure a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. S. Bodiford & Co's. My daughter used them accordingly to directions, and I am glad to say that she was cured. I feel that I owe a great deal to Doan's Kidney Pills, and am glad to recommend them to any person suffering from kidney disease."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GIRL PROVED A HEROINE.

Rescued Her Father and Her Uncle from Drowning.

Portland, Ore., July 14.—Cora Hosford, fourteen years old, Sunday at Washougal, Washington, rescued her father, Captain Hosford, W. B. Patterson, her uncle, and Mildred Long, her half-sister, who were in swimming. The Long girl became exhausted and Captain Hosford went to her assistance. The girl's struggles exhausted him and he cried for help and Patterson went to assist him. Captain Hosford himself was exhausted, and Miss Hosford swam to him and bore him in safety to the shore. By this time Patterson had become exhausted in his efforts to save the struggling girl and his little niece plunged into the water, swam to him, seized her uncle by his hair and towed him to shore, where he was resuscitated. She then went back and secured the body of the Long girl. The latter, however, was past reviving.

G. B. Burbans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burbans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to anyone suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Will Move to Gainesville.

Dr. M. H. DePasse and two interesting daughters, Misses Marie and Louise, of Archer, were visitors to Gainesville Tuesday. The Doctor, who has made Archer his home for the past several years, will move to Gainesville about October 1st. He will leave Archer the latter part of this month, but will spend the month of August in New York before returning here with his family to make this city his future home.

War Against Consumption.

All nations are endeavoring to check the ravages of consumption, the "white plague" that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not risk your health by taking some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results. The genuine is in a yellow package. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Postoffice Safe Looted.

Nashville, Tenn. July 14.—The post office safe at Martin, Tenn., was cracked Saturday night and $100 in stamps and several hundred dollars in currency taken by the thieves. The work was evidently done by professionals.

Twenty-Five Cents is the Price of Peace.

The terrible itching and smarting, incident to certain skin diseases, is almost instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

WATCHED WOMAN DROWN.

Big Crowd Raised Not a Hand at Rescue, It Is Said.

Chicago, July 14.—While 200 men and boys sat or stood within a comparatively few feet of her and in sight of nearly 1,000 others, an unidentified woman fell, or rolled purposely from the North pier at the mouth of the Chicago river Sunday and drowned.

Although she screamed repeatedly for assistance not a hand in the crowd that watched her struggles in the water, was lifted to save her. Instead, one of the gazers stole the woman's purse and hat, which she had placed on the pier beside her, and fled.

A half hour later the body was taken from the water by Captain Carl and his men from the life saving station.

The body was neatly dressed. The woman apparently was thirty-five years old, 5 feet, 4 inches tall, with dark brown hair and hazel eyes, and weighed 105 pounds.

HUSBAND'S FATAL MISTAKE.

Thought His Wife Was a Burglar and Shot Her.

Philadelphia, July 14.—Mistaking his bride of less than a year for a burglar, William A. Thomas, aged twenty-three years, shot and probably fatally wounded her at their home in the upper section of the city.

Hearing a noise in the bathroom of the dwelling, Thomas seized a revolver and began an investigation. As he reached the second story of the house Mrs. Thomas emerged from the bath room and her husband discharged the revolver, the bullet striking her in the abdomen.

Thomas says he believed his wife to have been in another part of the house. He was placed under arrest pending an investigation.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by all druggists.

Successor for Wiley.

Montgomery, Ala., July 14.—The second district democratic congressional committee met here Tuesday to lay down a plan for the nomination of a successor to the late Congressman Wiley. There is a movement on foot to compliment O. C. Wiley, a brother of the deceased, with the short term, and it may be that he will be named by the committee. There are a half dozen candidates out for the nomination already.

A Contented Woman

Is always found in the same house with Ballard's Snow Liniment. It keeps every member of the family free from aches and pains, it heals cuts, burns and scalds and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago and muscular soreness and stiffness. 25c, 50c and $1 a bottle. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

He Died in the Grandstand.

Columbus, O., July 14.—Thomas J. Bryce, known to sportsmen as president of the Columbus American association baseball club, died suddenly at Neil Park, where he had gone along with thousands of people, to witness the last game of the scheduled series between the Columbus and the Toledo clubs. Heart disease was the cause. The game was postponed because of his death.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which, despite the most beneficial environment of soil, sun and air, and of atmosphere, seemed never to achieve a healthy growth?

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vasoline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—i.e. a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newhair's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result. Sold by leading druggists. Send the 12 stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Chicago, Wis.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00. J. S. Bodiford & Co., Special Agents.

Weak Women

frequently suffer great pain and misery during the change of life. It is at this time that the beneficial effect of taking Cardui is most appreciated, by those who find that it relieves their distress.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Lucinda C. Hill, of Freeland, O., writes: "Before I began to take Cardui, I suffered so badly I was afraid to lie down at night. After I began to take it I felt better in a week. Now my pains have gone. I can sleep like a girl of 16 and the change of life has nearly left me." Try Cardui.

RECKLESS AARON BURR.

The Dramatic Story of His Marriage in Old Age.

The story of Aaron Burr's marriage in his old age to the widow of Stephen Jumel, who was well known in the early history of New York city, is a dramatic one.

Conceive, if you will, the picture of Burr, gifted adventurer that he was, broken in health, branded in the popular mind as the murderer of Alexander Hamilton and returning from a long exile to find himself an outcast in the city where he had once been the political monarch of all he surveyed and a distinguished figure in society and at the bar. Conceive, if you can, this lamentable old man, smirking through his wrinkles, bowing and prancing rather stiffly because of his rheumatic joints and with his mouth full of pretty platitudes, paying court to the widow of Stephen Jumel, herself in the prime of years and health. Remove from the picture its surface incongruities, and you have a bit of pure pathos unequaled in the annals of foolish great men.

But something of his old time power to charm the gentler sex must have stood by him in his years of mental and physical misery, for in his suit for the widow Jumel's hand and fortune he won gloriously, dramatically. Rebuffed repeatedly, Burr finally declared in passionate rage that on a given day he would arrive at the Jumel mansion accompanied by a clergyman, who should marry them on the spot. He would give his prospective bride no quarter, no chance of escape from the inevitable.

She was amused at the threat and dismissed the old man with more than her usual coldness of demeanor. Burr stuck to his avowal and one July day rolled up in a carriage, and with him was a minister, the same who fifty years before performed the marriage ceremony for Burr and the mother of his daughter, the beautiful Theodosia. There was something of a scene in the old house on this day. There were tears of anger on the part of Burr. Relatives remonstrated; Burr remained immovable. All feared a scandal. The minister, book in hand, stood unobtrusively in the background. There were more tears, more declarations of undying love, and the widow Jumel became Mrs. Aaron Burr.

They were married in the great drawing room of the Jumel mansion. Burr squandered with reckless hand the wealth acquired by Stephen Jumel and left for the enjoyment of his marital partner. There were many bitter quarrels between the ill-mated pair, and they were soon divorced. Burr died in 1836, but madam lived until 1865, dying a recluse and a miser, the money received from the Jumel estate hoarded in an unused chamber.

Stones and Glass Houses.

The origin of the saying, "Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," is as follows: At the time of the union of England and Scotland London was haunted with Scotchmen, and the London roughs used to go about at night breaking their windows. Buckingham being considered the chief instigator of the mischief, a party of Scotchmen smashed the windows of the duke's mansion, known as the Glass House. The court favorite appealed to the king, who replied, "Steenie, Steenie, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they fling stones!"—New York American.

Mathematics at Oxford.

There is an interesting story which shows the disposition of Oxford toward mathematics. A venerable don who had bought half a dozen books at 3s. 6d. each requested the bookseller to give him a piece of paper for the purpose of arriving at the amount. He then wrote down 3s. 6d. six times, one under the other, and was slowly adding them up when the shopman ventured to point out the shorter method of multiplying one 3s. 6d. by 6. "Dear me!" exclaimed the don. "Really, that is most ingenious, most ingenious."—London Globe.

Anticipating Him.

Night after night the exceedingly quiet and backward youth had called on a neighboring farmer's daughter, sitting perfectly mute beside her while she did all the entertaining. This night, however, the youth, wishing for a glass of water, suddenly surprised her by blurting out, "Say, Sal, will you?"

"Don't exert yourself, Reuben," she interrupted. "I understand. Yes. Have you brought the ring?"—Bohemian Magazine.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—Samuel Boyer, Folsom, Iowa. A HUMAN MACHINE.

He Was Able to Correct a Language He Did Not Understand.

When Max Muller was preparing his edition of the Rigveda he had, so the story goes, an illustration of the instinctive wisdom of the compositor. In providing the manuscript for about 6,000 sheets of print the author naturally tripped from time to time. Whenever he did trip, there on his proof was the error queried in a careful hand. Surely, he thought, some unknown scholar in the university must be overlooking his proofs with kindly interest and making the corrections for him. Inquiry showed that this was not the fact. The corrections were the corrections of the man who set up the type. "Did this man, then, know Sanskrit?" Muller asked. Not a bit of it. Use and wont enabled him to detect the errors as a hungry child detects a cooking dinner. The discovery originated through his arm rather than from any intellectual doubt, and that arm was palsied!

This printer had sustained an accident, leaving him with an arm partly paralyzed, and as this made him slower with his setting his masters turned him on to Sanskrit, with which he had had no previous acquaintance. He had to learn upward of 300 types for the work, but he learned them and accustomed himself to the work. Now, many of the letters in Sanskrit cannot follow each other or, if they do, must be modified. In writing Muller sometimes forgot these modifications, but they were all marked on the proof. Muller was so interested that he sought out the printer to ask him how he was able to correct a language which he did not understand. The explanation was remarkable: "You see, sir, my arm gets into a regular swing from one compartment of types to another, and there are movements that never occur. So if I suddenly have to take up types which entail a new movement I feel it and put a query." What a dog's life the "nu spelling" or Artemus Ward's, which is the same thing, would have caused that marvelous human machine!—St. James' Gazette.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.—William H. Stirling, Carbon Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by all druggists.

Triumph of Mind.

Victim of Delusion—Doctor, I'm awfully afraid I'm going to have brain fever. Doctor—Pooh, pooh, my dear friend! That is all an illusion of the senses. There is no such thing as fever. You have no fever; you have no brain fever—no material substance upon which such a wholly imaginary and supposititious thing as a fever could find any base of operation. Victim—Oh, doctor, what a load you have taken from my—from my—I have a mind, haven't I, doctor?—Chicago Tribune.

Was in Poor Health for Years.

Ira W. Kelley of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others." NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LETTERS PATENT.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1908, apply to the Governor of Florida, at his office in Tallahassee, Florida, for letters patent for Archer Crate and Basket Company, the proposed charter of which is now on file with the Secretary of State at Tallahassee, Florida. A true copy of said proposed charter follows our signatures hereto and is made a part of this notice. This notice is given and published in compliance with Section 2649 of the General Statutes of Florida.

Articles of Incorporation of the Archer Crate and Basket Company.

Article 1—The name of this corporation is the Archer Crate and Basket Company, and its principal office and place of business shall be at Archer, Alachua county, Florida, but the board of directors may establish such branch offices, agencies and other places of business at other places in the United States and foreign countries as may be deemed necessary.

Article 2—The general business to be conducted and engaged in is to do any or all of the things herein set out to the same extent as natural persons could or might do, that is to conduct and maintain a general manufacturing business, to buy and sell goods, wares and merchandise of all kinds and descriptions, to operate a general mercantile business, to buy, sell and manufacture chemicals and fertilizers at wholesale or retail.

To manufacture crates, carriers and baskets, boxes and other similar articles and to manufacture lumber and operate mills, factories and plants for the manufacture and sale of lumber and its product.

To manufacture ice and deal in the same, and to build and operate cold storage rooms and refrigeration processes.

To produce electricity and distribute the same for light, heat and power and other purposes, and to deal in and supply water for all proper and lawful uses.

To buy, sell, hold, use and lease and let real estate, and to mortgage the same and to acquire, hold, sell and dispose of mortgages on real estate; to enter into, make and perform and carry out contracts of every kind with any person, firm or corporation; to have and hold all the rights, powers and privileges granted to corporations under the laws of Florida.

The foregoing shall be construed both as to its objects and powers, and it is hereby expressly provided that the foregoing specific powers shall not be held in any way to limit or restrict the powers of this corporation.

Article 3—The capital stock of this corporation shall be Ten Thousand Dollars, divided into 100 shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars each. Said stock shall be paid for in cash, or in property, or by labor or services at a just valuation to be fixed by the directors at a meeting to be called for that purpose.

Article 4—The term for which this corporation shall exist shall be ninety-nine years.

Article 5—The business of the corporation shall be conducted by a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer and a General Manager, and a Board of Directors to consist of not less than three members. The duties of any two of the above offices, except as provided by the by-laws, may be held and discharged by the same person. The business shall be conducted by R. D. Medlin, President; M. H. DePass, Vice-President, and C. D. Wood, Secretary and Treasurer, and R. D. Medlin, M. H. DePass, C. D. Wood and M. Venable shall compose the first Board of Directors until the first annual meeting of stockholders to be held on the third Monday in August, 1908, and annually thereafter on said date. The officers of the corporation shall be elected or appointed by the Directors, annually, immediately after the annual meeting of the election of Directors by the stockholders. Each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each share of stock owned by said stockholder.

Article 6—The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation can at any time subject itself shall be Twenty-five Thousand Dollars.

Article 7—The following persons are the subscribers to this charter and articles of incorporation and have each subscribed to and for the number of shares set after our names: C. D. Wood, 20 shares; M. H. DePass, 20 shares; M. Venable, 20 shares, all residing at Archer, Florida, and R. D. Medlin of Gainesville, Florida, 20 shares, and Fred Cubberly of Cedar Key, Florida, one share.

The foregoing articles of incorporation are this day approved and adopted as the proposed charter of a corporation to be known as Archer Crate and Basket Company at a meeting of the subscribers and incorporators, held for that purpose, at Archer, Alachua county, Florida.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 13th day of July, A. D. 1908.

MYSTERY OF DREAMS

hence Come the Warning Visitors We See in Sleep?

WO VERY PUZZLING CASES.

Where Mother and Son Both Got Tidings of Disaster at the Same Time and One Where a Child Saw Her Father Saved in a Shipwreck.

Out of 149 dreams of a very striking and investigated by one of the leading psychic research societies no fewer than seventy-nine related to a death, and perhaps the rarest of all these dreams is the case where two persons dreamed the same thing on the same night, and the episode came true. This striking instance is reported by the Rev. R. B. Elington:

"A woman parishioner of mine," he says, "whose husband was a fisherman, at that time on the sea, dreamed one night in terribly vivid fashion that a little craft had been cut in two by the towering steel bows of a great liner. Her eldest son was with the husband, and as she woke she screamed out, 'Oh, save my boy, my boy!' This was remarkable enough, considering the sequel, but almost at the very moment the poor woman was in her distress, yet still asleep, another son was bounding at her door, half asleep and half awake, and crying, 'Oh, mother, where is father?' The terrified woman arose and let the boy in. He was crying. He told her he had distinctly heard his father's heavy tread coming up the stairs and his ponderous kick with sea boots against the door, as had been his manner when returning abruptly from a long cruise. Next morning the alarmed mother and wife told all the neighbors, and before the day was out the dreadful news came that every detail of her dream was true. The little trawling lugger had been run into by a coasting liner, nearly cut in two and sunk with all hands, including her husband and son."

Premonitory dreams occupy a large part of the psychological records, and the following case is a very puzzling one: A Mrs. Spruit lived at Balmmain, one of the suburbs of Sydney, Australia. Her husband was a sea captain in command of the Atacama, a wooden ship of 1,300 tons, which had arrived in Sydney in a leaking state and was picked up cheap by a firm known as Cowlishaw Bros. for $3,500. Twice as much was spent in repairs, and then the Atacama was sent up the coast with a cargo of coal. She delivered this and next set out for San Diego.

But when 500 miles out from Sydney she sprang a leak, and Captain Spruit decided to put back. In spite of the pumps the water gained, and soon there was a depth of eleven feet in the hold. Spruit now resolved to abandon the ship and launch the three boats. The captain himself, with one seaman, the steward, boatswain and an apprentice, was in the twenty-four foot lifeboat, while the rest of the crew, twelve in all, were in the other two boats. Heavy seas were running, and the boats were nearly swamped. As Spruit could not swim, he was nearly drowned. Some of his men were lost. Their situation was indeed fearful in boats half filled with water and exposed to a fierce gale 400 miles from land. Again and again was Spruit washed out, but at last his boat was picked up when its occupants were in the last stages of exhaustion from fatigue, exposure and lack of food. A reporter of the Sydney Morning Herald called to interview the captain and found him barefooted, with terribly swollen legs, covered with severe cuts and bruises.

Now consider Mrs. Spruit's report to the Psychological Research society, which is most remarkable.

"Last Thursday week," she writes, "at 3 o'clock in the morning my thirteen-year-old daughter Lily came into my bedroom and woke me by a tap on my forehead. 'Oh, mamma,' she cried in a breathless whisper, 'I'm so frightened!' I tried to soothe her, but she only covered her face with her hands and whispered tremblingly: 'Oh, look! My papa's ship is all wrecked! Papa's home all in rags, with his feet and legs cut, and I see two or three of his men drowned out of the boat.'"

"I told Lily sternly it was all nonsense. 'It isn't!' she said passionately. 'I've seen it in my dream, and I know it's all true!'

"But I coaxed her off to bed. The girl kept worrying about it until the next Sunday. A week after her dream my husband returned, and Lily found me crying when she came in from school.

"'Oh, mamma,' she cried sharply, 'is the Atacama wrecked?'

"I told her evasively her papa had come home. 'She was not to be denied, however, and asked, with strange persistence, 'Are papa's legs cut?'

"I said they were. 'And the very first thing she said to her father was: 'Why, you didn't have those clothes on when I saw you! The ones you had on were all torn in the shipwreck."

Lily Spruit herself furnished a report to the Psychological Research society. She said she woke in terrible fright, having seen every microscopic detail of the shipwreck and its sequel. She saw her father get into the big boat and keep close to his ship for some time. She watched his boat capsize and the boy Allen drown. What woke her, she said, was the howling of the wind about the wreck, and the last she saw was the other men pulling her father back into the waterlogged boat.—William T. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by all druggists.

Pulling That Hair.

"What makes me really mad," said the woman, "is to spend minutes, maybe hours, trying to get hold of a white hair which shows up on my head like a dazzling light, yet which is tantalizingly elusive when I try to catch it, and then when I do finally separate it from the brown hair and give it a vigorous pull to find that I have snatched out a good brown hair, after all, and left the white one still shining."—New York Press.

THE BIRD CLOWN.

A Queer Kind of Fellow is the Yellow Breasted Chat.

The oddities of the yellow breasted chat begin even with his classification. To think of a warbler the size of a Baltimore oriole, a warbler with a song like a mocking bird! Indeed, there is little about the chat that is not remarkable. He goes in for the weird and the spectacular. If Nature designed him to show what she could do in the way of the unusual and the eccentric, she had remarkable success. This bird and not the catbird is the real "clown of the woods." Clown of the thicket would be more apt, for, like the catbird, he prefers the shrub and lower trees. A wild tangle of briars and vines is a favorite haunt. It is only the better to survey such a retreat that he mounts to the top of a tree. From his lofty perch he sings, to the amazement and bewilderment of the person that hears the song for the first time. More likely than not he will become invisible and silent upon the first attempt to approach him, remaining quiet and hidden till you move on again; then he chuckles loudly and scolds and spits and scoffs till you are out of sight and hearing.

No bird is so fearful of being seen or such a master of hide and seek. It is worse than useless to try to steal a march on him. He manages to be always on the wrong side of the next bush. If you should find his nest, which is a pretty little basket of straws and weed stalks lined with fine grasses and strips of soft bark or leaves placed a foot or more above the ground among tall weeds or bushes, the sitting bird steals away and is at once lost to sight. Take a peep at the white, red speckled eggs and then hide among the bushes as far away from the nest as you can while still keeping it in sight. You may have to wait for an hour and even make other trips to the spot, but this is the surest way to get a good look at this shy one.—St. Nicholas.

DO YOU WANT TO

MAKE OR LOSE MONEY

THIS SUMMER?

THERE is no good reason for any "summer dullness" in the stores of this city. That's a strong statement—but its not nearly so strong as the one to follow.

No store in this city ever suffered from summer dullness that was not directly traceable to its advertising policy—that was not INEVITABLE on account of its advertising policy. This is a strong statement—but not so strong as the one to follow.

You—if you who read this are a merchant in this city—HAVE THE ABSOLUTE POWER TO DECIDE WHETHER, during THIS summer, YOUR STORE SHALL LAG AND LOSE GROUND, through ENCOURAGING THE NON-BUYING HABIT IN THE PEOPLE—or shall keep as busy as in the so-called "busy seasons." You decide the matter one way or the other when you decide on how much or how little you will advertise during these summer months.

To really "gain ground" at a time when some stores are lagging and falling back is not only possible—it is an aspiration—worthy of a man who has the habit of accomplishing his purpose.
